RUSSIANS DRAW THE STING FROM THE NAZI PEST

HERE IS ONE of the huge guns taken by the Russians while chasing the Germans westward over the still snowy plains. Moscow announced recently the launching of a giant spring offensive, results of which will be known soon. One of the objects of the drive is to forestall an expected German drive from the Crimea into the rich Caucasian oilfields. Hitler in a speech last week admitted the preparedness of the Reds had taken him by surprise, and that the Nazi offensive would have to wait now until summer.

THE HOME of this Russian peasant woman was put to the torch by Nazis. Strong points popularly known as "hedgehogs" have been built by the invaders to take out some of the sting of Russian winter.

THE JOB of this mounted reconnoitring party is to advance well ahead of the main Red army forces and find out where the enemy is, his strength and what he is doing. A runner with the information races back to the main body of troops.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT guns like this have taken a heavy toll of German bombing planes. A newspaper correspondent recently returned from Russia reports that the barrage thrown up by the AA guns of Moscow is heavier than that over London.

HERE'S THE RUSSIA THAT UPSET HITLER'S APPLE-CART

MARSHAL TIMOSHENKO is shown crouching beside one of his soldiers in the field during manoeuvres. He is a firm believer in the "Do as I do" brand of military leadership. When he reorganized the Russian army just before the war with Finland, Timoshenko insisted that the officers should be as agile and rugged as their charges. High standards of personal marksmanship and horsemanship were required of the officers. Other Russian generals are reported to be fighting in the front lines alongside the lowest ranks.

SHOWING CLEAR signs of inadequate clothing and protection from the intense cold and exposure on the southern front in Russia, this pitiful array of German prisoners is shown awaiting shipment to prison camps. The well-fed and better-clothed Russians have the edge over their enemies, who are seizing every piece of clothing available from which they might gain a little warmth.

A GERMAN J-88, damaged by anti-aircraft fire of the Russian navy, and which was forced to make a crash landing on the shore of Borents sea, is shown being examined for secrets of construction by Russian officers. Pravda, Soviet Communist newspaper, recently reported 500,000 tons of German shipping had been sunk by the Russian northern fleet's submarines since war started.

FRONT LINE HEROINES OF RUSSIA. Crouching under cover in a front line position which is under heavy gunfire, these two girls of the Red army ambulance corps move up with their stretchers to carry in a wounded soldier.

MEDICAL SQUAD of an A.R.P. detachment receives instruction from the hands of an expert. There are no sex barriers in the Soviet and a woman can take part in any service, business or trade for which she thinks she is fitted.

A GUN CREW somewhere near the front is shown firing an anti-aircraft gun at enemy planes. Recent Russian dispatches claim superiority over the Germans in the air.

STUDENT OF AN AIR CLUB in Russia is shown sitting in an airplane in preparation for her first flight. The Soviet has more than 50,000 women aviators and mechanics ready to take the field in active combat. Many thousands more are in training. The average woman in Stalin's army can build tanks or airplanes and can drive them when they are finished. Women enlist in nearly all branches.

A GROUP OF RUSSIAN SOLDIERS seek warmth around a fire in the snows of the Russian front. Some military experts believe that the snow and extreme cold alone prevented Hitler's army from capturing Moscow last autumn and scoring a decisive defeat over the Russian army. If that is the case, Hitler will no doubt try again this spring in a fresh campaign what he failed to do last year.

LADY SURGEON Sofia Klitina crawled from one trench to another in the heat of battle and dressed the wounds of soldiers. Single-handed she carried 20 wounded men away.

A CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL is shown practically demolished after an indiscriminate German air raid on Moscow. The Germans seemed to make little or no attempt to distinguish between military and civilian targets.

UNCLE SAM GIRDING FOR ATTACK ON AXIS

THIS PONDEROUS TANK proved too much for the stout fence of two-foot forest logs which American army engineers confidently expected would trip it up. But it flew over the obstacle like a steeplechasing horse taking a hurdle. The war has increasingly proved that bigger and better tank traps are necessary to stop today's heaviest tanks. And even heavier ones are contemplated.

ANY HORSEMAN KNOWS that this line of cavalry mounts going over a solid stone fence is performing in splendid style. They are ridden by student officers undergoing training in the cavalry school at Fort Riley, Kansas. This army post was once General Custer's headquarters in the Indian frontier wars, and is located not far from the exact geographical centre of the United States.

REGULAR SEA HORNETS are the motor torpedo boats in this formation going through manoeuvres somewhere on the Pacific. They are small but they carry a formidable weapon and big ships have reason to fear them. In a boat like these, Lieut. John D. Bulkeley, amid a hail of fire from shore batteries, sank a 5,000-ton Jap ship in Subic Bay, thus aiding Gen. MacArthur's defence of Bataan.

CHINESE CADETS in America are training for the day they will take their places in the skies of the Far East. They receive flight training identical to that given American aviation cadets, and upon finishing will be commissioned as lieutenants in the Chinese air force and assigned to immediate service. Above they march to their planes.

LEARNING THE HARD WAY is this U.S. soldier, taking a driving course at an army truck school. Driving this peep over an obstacle course, he charged the stream too fast and splashed water all over the ignition. He's seen drying it out. Next time he'll probably take the stream in low gear.

SCOURING THE OCEAN on patrol duty, vessels of the U.S. Pacific fleet with scout bombing planes on the wing overhead seek out air, surface and undersea enemy craft. Illustrating the effectiveness of such scouting was recent announcement of the arrival of U.S. reinforcements in Australia.

HOW TO TELL TWINS APART or Pepsodent to the Rescue!

1. Twins are confusing enough. But when one of them deliberately tries to fool a fellow . . . well . . . I was all at sea . . .

2. I'd have popped the question to Joan weeks ago if I'd been sure she wasn't that mischievous twin of hers who never let me be quite sure. Then, one night . . .

3. . . . I was listening to Bob Hope on the radio . . .

4. Suddenly we had a wonderful idea . . . Joan and I decided to turn the tables on her twin sister. Joan switched to Pepsodent Powder. Her twin kept right on using her old brand.

5. It worked like a charm! One quick glance told me Joan's teeth were twice as bright! They both use Pepsodent now, but I can tell Joan every time . . . she's the one with my solitaire on her finger!

PEPSODENT TOOTH POWDER CAN MAKE TEETH 32% BRIGHTER THAN THE NEXT LEADING BRAND

6. Independent laboratory tests proved this fact. No other powder can give Pepsodent's high degree of luster, because only Pepsodent contains Composite Metaphosphate, the remarkable patented polishing ingredient. Double your chances by making your teeth twice as bright. Get Pepsodent Tooth Powder at your favorite drug counter today.

AUSSIE DEFENCES BODE ILL FOR THE JAPANESE

SAND-BAGGED FIELD HEADQUARTERS spring into rapid being near Port Darwin as Aussie soldiers tackle the job of preparing for Japanese invaders. General MacArthur echoed the spirit of the people by saying Australia would be used as a springboard for the Allied drive on the Japanese aggressors.

STRIPPED TO THE WAIST and working in a temperature exceeding 100 degrees, these soldiers bring into being a gun emplacement at Port Darwin. The military and naval base has almost overnight become a focal point in Australia's defences. Many points now bristle with defensive networks.

WITH DARWIN already subjected to aerial bombardment, the threat of a Japanese invasion has been brought very close to the people of the land "down under." Defences are springing up all over likely invasion points, and they will be manned by hard-fighting Aussies and men from the United States. The recognition of Australia as a vital front brought Gen. MacArthur from Bataan.

WAR MATERIALS in ever increasing numbers are flowing from United States to Australia to meet the threat of Japanese invasion. One of the famed U.S. jeep cars is shown being hoisted aboard one of the transport ships.

ITS SMART AND GLAMOROUS for girls to wear sunshades while holidaying, so the experts tell us. Her eyes are protected from the glare, her skin from the sun, and she will be a knockout besides. Gail Patrick is shown wearing a checkered velveteen hat while on vacation from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's studios. This stunning picture hat has a matching handbag, commodious enough to carry all the requisites of travel. The star wears it with simple white.

HOLLYWOOD'S FASHION OF THE WEEK. Dorothy Lovett, R.K.O. radio-actress, selects this hat and bag combination to brighten the spring horizon. The silk plaid taffeta is predominantly red, green and yellow. Kelly green taffeta defines the wide poke bonnet brim of the large hat, which has a conical crown. The same green taffeta made the stitched top of the enormous pouch bag. The spacious brim protects the eyes and skin from the sun.

SIMPLE, YET BECOMING. This natural straw cloche with taupe veil added for smartness is just the thing for the young girl to wear while travelling down south.

NEW YORK DENTIST IS TOOTH PICK ENGINEER

THIS MINATURE Eiffel Tower is the work of M. R. Stein, a New York dentist. His hobby is toothpick-engineering, and with these slivers of wood he makes replicas of world famous structures. Tools are penknife, forceps, cement tube.

THIS EXACT MODEL of a giant Ferris wheel perfect to the least detail is Dr. Stein's most intricate sample of toothpick art. Twenty-seven thousand of them went into the replica. It is no house of cards that will fall apart at a touch. In this sturdy structure, which took months to manufacture and is held firmly together by cement, 29 large passenger cars revolve smoothly around the broomstick used as a handle.

LATTICE WORK in the base of the model of the Eiffel Tower fittingly frames the artist himself holding his dental probe. He can lay claim to a patience greater than that of Job, for cementing toothpicks is very slow work.

And tonight, the boys come home from camp. You'd be a fine citizen spilling their furlough with a facetious frown.

So try Kotex . . . it won't take you long to discover why it's more popular than all other brands of pads put together. After all, that's proof that Kotex stays soft . . . the best proof!

RUSSIAN WOMEN HAVE FIGHTING ROLE

RUSSIAN WOMEN have shown fighting qualities that no other race has demonstrated, a girl guerrilla having recently killed a German general. They are the stars of the first Soviet film of World War II, "Girl From Leningrad," which is based on fact. Vivid scenes from it are seen above and below.

SOVIET RUSSIA, first of all countries, is making a cinematographic record of the actual battles of the war. Above is the film view of the girl from Leningrad carrying the flag of her country and hurling a hand grenade.

GUN-TOTING Soviet girl parachutists, according to one war correspondent, have been landed far behind the enemy lines and have killed Germans. Their heroic activities are recorded in a film entitled "Girl From Leningrad," first showing of which will be at the Eaton Auditorium in Toronto for three days beginning April 4. It has been called an authentic documentation of the titanic efforts of Russia's men and women to defeat the ruthless enemy of their land and civilization. The most remarkable part of this amazing saga depicts women in actual combat. The parachute nurses carry guns as well as medical supplies.

A ROYAL NEW CANADIAN AND HIS FORMER GRANDEUR

THE EX-SHAH of Persia, Reza Khan Pahlevi, lately deposed by the Russians and British, will soon be a new Canadian. Ottawa has granted him permission and he will probably reside in western Canada. He is the son of a peasant and once was a groom in one of the czar's cavalry regiments. His rule lasted 17 years and he is now 65. Left, view of throne room in Teheran palace. Throne is in the alcove.

HERE'S A CLOSE-UP of the famous peacock throne. Nadir Shah brought it back from Delhi when he raided the Mogul empire a couple of centuries ago. It is said that Reza Khan when temporarily in need of cash, in spite of his fortune of $180,000,000, most of which he was compelled to leave behind, was willing to let this gaudy throne go for $12,500,000. In the peacock's tail alone, which forms the back, there are 14,000 precious stones.

WOMEN OF INDIA ON ALERT FOR JAPS

JAPANESE SUCCESSES have brought the threat of war closer to India and its women are seen above and right going through A.R.P. drills. Sir Stafford Cripps has the job of bringing together the many dissenting interests, preliminary to self-government.

INDIA'S ALL-OUT co-operation in the war is needed by Great Britain, as United Nations plans call for its use for counter-offensives.

SELF-GOVERNMENT for India has long been its leaders' aim, but chief difficulty in this direction has been the many racial groups that form India's population. Hindoos total 68%, 22% are Moslems and 10% adherents of other religions. Meanwhile Indian women above prepare for any emergency.

INCENDIARY BOMBS and gas masks come in for their share of attention during A.R.P. drills. Indian soldiers already are playing an important role in the Libyan campaign and two divisions of her men were lost at Singapore. Another army has been fighting alongside British troops in Burma.

CANADIAN NAVY SEEN IN ACTION

THE LIFE-BOAT on the davits in the foreground belongs to one of Canada's destroyers. Somewhere off Newfoundland, in the distance, are the merchant ships it is helping to convoy. So far in this war, 8,000 merchantmen carrying 50,000,000 tons of freight have crossed safely from Canada to Britain.

CANADIAN NAVAL MEN are kept as busy on shore as at sea. Here's the destroyer Restigouche getting spring-cleaned in port. The Dominion's navy is growing rapidly and now has over 300 ships and a personnel that numbers 28,000. Of the 13 destroyers (one sunk), seven came from the U.S.

SCRAPPY LITTLE BATTLEWAGON is the destroyer H.M.C.S. Saguenoy, which has proved its mettle in many engagements in the battle of the Atlantic. Torpedoed over a year ago, while convoying freighters to a British port, 21 lives were lost. The surviving crew members displayed their seamanship in bringing the ship to port under its own power. It's seen here in port getting a spring cleaning.

WARMLY MUFFLED against the cold sea air, the officer of the watch on the upper bridge of the destroyer keeps the navy's unceasing vigil.

MAN BATTLES MAN AND THE ELEMENTS

HUTS COLLAPSED like cards, iron roofs flew through the air, and heavy Whitley and Hudson planes were lifted off the ground in spite of the 300-pound concrete blocks to which they were fastened, when a record 133-mile-an-hour gale swept across Iceland recently. Two sentries, gripping an iron post, were asked by an officer where their guard-house was and replied: "It's out in the bay, sir."

FLEEING ACROSS the English Channel with Gestapo agents on their trail, five Belgian saboteurs, in a tiny open boat, were gunned by Messerschmitts, and only two were alive a week later when a British warship rescued them. The Nazi attackers flew so low that the men were blackened by the gunpowder. This and the picture above are drawings by the English artist, Montague Black.

CRIPPS' JOB—TO UNITE INDIA

LAWYER, SCIENTIST AND POLITICIAN is Sir Stafford Cripps, who is now in India to discuss with its leaders the many problems of India attaining full dominion status. Here he enjoys a quiet moment with his daughter, Diana, and above, right, shows him hard at work personally answering part of the great pile of correspondence he receives each day. An ambulance driver in the last war in France, he was later "drafted" to run a chemical factory.

WITH THE OUTBREAK of war, Sir Stafford left a £25,000-£50,000 law practice and made a flying trip of the world. Returning, he advocated all-out aid to China, freedom for India and alliance with Russia. He has studied closely all the labor problems. He's seen here with Lady Cripps, who is his secretary.

LAST LINES AND TIPS ON WINNING!

To win $1,000.00 cash, first read the "nursery rhyme" 2 or 3 times, to get the simple rhythm. Then jot down all the words you can think of that rhyme with "Knight." Words like "fright," "write," "unite," etc. Then use one of these words that rhyme with "Knight" for the last word in your last line. For example, "All it praises I'll write." Or maybe, "And gives grease such a fright."

Of course, these are just examples. When you've put down your list of rhyming words—and seen how marvelous the new, improved Old Dutch really is, you'll probably have several last lines—anyone may win you $1,000.00 Cash.

The important thing is, get busy right away. Above all, don't fail to send in all your last lines. You can enter as often as you like—and the very one you think isn't good enough may be a prize winner! Send your first entry now—and you may be $1,000.00 richer in just a few days!
